

WHAT'S NEW

↑ Bang & Olufsen has launched a limited edition White Collection. It features all of Bang & Olufsen's best selling products and is inspired by the Espacio Micus, an exclusive minimalist art gallery in Ibiza overlooking the Mediterranean. The White Collection is now available at Bang & Olufsen in Leeds, Harrogate and York. For more information contact Leeds on 0113 245 3474; Harrogate 01423 531105 or York on 01904 423704 or visit www.bang-olufsen.com

→ Designed in Italy by Raffaele Darra, this is a fully functioning Cuckoo Clock made out of coloured resin. It runs on batteries and the cuckoo can be switched off if required. It costs £165. From Rockett St George www.rockettstgeorge.co.uk or tel: 0208 350 5450.

↑ Leading German kitchen manufacturer, SieMatic, has launched a new high-tech kitchen in the UK. The S1, shown here in Truffle Grey gloss lacquer finish also comes in white and two wood tones. The kitchen also has an iPod docking system and a Smart Board, an electronic strip that sits beneath the wall cabinets and contains touch controls to all electronic gadgets in the kitchen, from the extractor hood, to a 17-inch flat screen LCD TV that is built into the glass splashback. The S1 kitchen retails from £50,000. For details tel: 01438 369 251 or visit www.siematic.co.uk

↑ This pack of six temporary, paper blinds featured on TV show Dragon's Den. They won the backing of Duncan Bannatyne and James Caan and are designed to fit any window and are attached with a self-adhesive strip. The Blinds in a Box cost £29.99, come in black or white and can be cut to size. Available from Argos.

↑ Long-established Leeds store Peter Maturi is best known for its cookware, but it also stocks furniture and homeware on its first floor. These Gyro Rocking Chairs are new for Spring and cost £299. The design is based on a gyroscope and the chair is upholstered in leather. Peter Maturi, Vicar Lane, Leeds. tel: 0113 245 3887

↑ This Juno lamp in maple looks set to be a best seller for Habitat this season. It costs £65 www.habitat.net or tel: 08444 99 1111

